Equine Bodywork & Saddle Fitting

When you ask Don & Lisa Doran to work with your horse, rest assured that your horse is getting the best bodywork in the universe! Our talent and expertise is identifying the root cause of performance problems and providing the proper solution. One key to our many successes is our belief that each horse must be evaluated and treated as an individual.

We conduct a head-to-tail muscular evaluation of each horse and then perform the necessary equine bodywork. In our equine bodywork sessions we use the following modalities:

Equine Sports Massage, Equine Cranial Sacral, Equine Electro-Acupressure and Electro-Muscle Therapy, Respond Laser Therapy

Our basic charge for an Equine Bodywork session is $100 per hour. A session generally lasts 1 hour to 1.5 hours.

Saddle Fitting Consultation is available at an additional charge of $75 per horse (this fee is for up to 45 minutes).

Additional charges for travel expenses may apply.

Clinic Costs and Required Number of Participants

Half-Day Clinic

For a Half-Day Clinic, our minimum fee is $650. For 10 participants, that works out to $65 per person. For less than 10 participants, the cost per person would be greater. If more than 10 participants enroll, the cost per person is $65. Maximum number of participants is 20. Additional charges for travel expenses may apply.

Full-Day Clinic

For a Full-Day Clinic, our minimum fee is $1,250. For 10 participants, that works out to $125 per person. For less than 10 participants, the cost per person would be greater. If more than 10 participants enroll, the cost per person is $125. Maximum number of participants is 20. Additional charges for travel expenses may apply.

Best Choice

The most cost effective choice is to schedule a combination Equine Bodywork & Clinic Event. We require a minimum of 10 guaranteed participants in the Clinic and a minimum 10 guaranteed horses for Equine Bodywork.

Close to Ocala? (4-6 hours driving distance)

This combination saves participants from paying additional fees to cover our travel expenses.

Further Away from Ocala? (Greater than 6 hours driving or requires flying)

This combination reduces the amount of additional fees participants must pay to cover our travel expenses.

Basic Requirements for an Animal Dynamics Clinic:

1. Eager Participants
2. Volunteer horses for demonstration and practice
3. A Host Facility

Clinic Facilities Considerations

1. Meeting Area & Restroom

We need a dry, quiet, comfortable place to sit for group instruction and discussion.

We need seats for each participant (chairs, tack trunks or mounting blocks). Participants may be required to bring their own seat (chair/mounting block).

We need at least one fairly clean and well stocked restroom.

We can make presentations with or without our computer slide shows. So, the meeting area could be a barn lounge or a designated area in the stable. If we have pleasant weather during a day class, then outside in the shade will work. If we go into an evening class, then sufficient lighting is a consideration.

2. Horses & Stalls

The number of volunteer horses we will need depends upon how many participants we have in the clinic. Ideally, for hands-on practice, we like our students to work in pairs. For a clinic of 10 participants, we would need at least 5 horses, more is always welcome.

Ideally, the horses should be fairly clean, in a work program, have good ground manners and be not too young, nor too old.

Clinic participants may want to trailer in with their own horses for the clinic. This option is the choice of the clinic host. The clinic host works out the stabling costs and logistics directly with each horse owner.

3. Lunch (applies to Full Day Clinics)

We stop mid-day for a quick lunch break (30-45 minutes). Due to time constraints, Participants will be advised pack a lunch to eat on-site. Participants will also be advised to bring their own bottled water or choice of beverage.
